Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 1 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This Office Action is in response to Applicants Amendment/Request for Reconsideration filed on September 20, 2005. Applicants newly add claims 48-53. Claims 21-33 and 45-47 are presented for further examination. Claims 48-53 are presented for examination.

Election/Restrictions

I. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121.

I. Claims 21-22, 23-24, 25-26, and 27-33, drawn to a method of configuring a plurality of computer entities into a plurality of groups comprising at least one processor, one storage device; a network connection for communicating with the other computer entities in the same group as said at least one data processor, each group performing the following steps assigning a one said computer entities to be a master computer entity of a particular group, the at least one data processor and at least one data storage device of said master computer entity being arranged to provide the functionality if said master computer to one or more slave computer entities of the particular group; etc., classified in 709, subclass 208.

II. Claims 48-53, drawn a method of configuring a network by selectively joining a candidate slave computer to the network, the network including a master computer, each computer of the network including a data processor, etc.; the method comprising connecting the master computer and the candidate slave computer via the network connections thereof; while the master computer and the slave computer are connected, causing the data processor of the master computer to check functional items stored in the data storage device of the candidate slave computer to determine if a functional item stored in the data storage device of the candidate slave computer will have an adverse effect on the functionality of the network if the candidate slave computer joins the network, etc., classified in 709, subclass 224.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from one another because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product (MPEP § 806.04(b), 3rd paragraph), and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.04(h)). Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions anticipated by the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Invention I is not required for Invention II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).
